Annual Report
1989-90

The Tennessee Judicial Council has prepared this annual report on Tennessee state courts for the fiscal year of 1989-90 pursuant to Tennessee Code Annotated, Section 16-21-107(b), and Section 16-3-502(3). The contents include caseload data for the appellate and trial courts and narrative sections relative to the state court system.

Please note that the filing and disposition figures in this report cannot, and should not, be viewed as a complete measurement of the judicial workload carried by any given judge in any given court. The sheer weight of numbers is not necessarily indicative of the effort a judge has put forth or of the hours she/he has expended in performing the duties of her/his office.

For example, a judge might spend a week or more presiding over a jury trial where a defendant is charged with first-degree murder. In that same week, another judge might hear more than a hundred uncontested divorces, adoptions, or cases where the charge is minor, the jury trial is waived, and the plea is guilty. In this example, the first judge is credited for the disposition of one case while the second judge is credited with the disposition of more than a hundred cases. Each judge, however, has performed the duties of her/his office and fulfilled the judicial needs of the citizens of Tennessee. Therefore, this report does not undertake to evaluate which judge has rendered the greater service.

Report from the Secretary

This is the first year that the annual report has been published completely under the auspices of the Tennessee Judicial Council. Therefore, the Council is taking this opportunity to provide general information about its membership and duties.

As established by statute, the Judicial Council consists of one justice of the Supreme Court, selected by a majority vote of the judges on the Court; one of the judges of the Court of Appeals selected by the Court of Appeals; and one of the judges from the Court of Criminal Appeals chosen by the judges of the Court of Criminal Appeals. The Supreme Court also selects by majority vote one chancellor, one circuit court judge, one criminal court judge, and one general sessions court judge. The speaker of the state senate, the speaker of the state house of representatives, the chairman of the judiciary committee of the state senate, the chairman of the judiciary committee of the state house of representatives, the state attorney general and the executive secretary to the Supreme Court also serve as members of the Judicial Council.

The Governor also appoints Council members. He appoints two lay people and two members of the Tennessee bar. The attorneys must have practiced in the state for at least three years.

The Council itself has the power to elect six members at large. These members may or may not be practicing attorneys.

Members of the Council serve for a period of four years except the attorney general, the executive secretary to the Supreme Court, the speakers of the senate and house of representatives, and the chairmen of the judiciary committees of the senate and house of representatives. The speakers and the chairmen of the judiciary committees serve as Council members during their representative terms of office.

The Council is required to meet once a year on the fourth Monday in October in Nashville.

The Judicial Council is also required by statute to continuously survey and study the operation of the judicial department of the state, to devise ways to improve the administration of justice, to submit suggestions and recommendations to the Supreme Court and the General Assembly regarding changes in the administration of the judicial system, and to collect, compile, analyze, and publish statistics and other information pertaining to the judicial system. The Tennessee Judicial Information System (TJIS), which was formerly a division of the Office of the Executive Secretary but which is currently under the direction of the Tennessee Judicial Council, is the mechanism used to survey the state courts of record and to compile statistics reflecting their caseload. There are 197 court clerks who report caseload information to TJIS either on paper forms which are keyed into an IMS1 data base or by magnetic tape. The office of the Judicial Council and TJIS is located in Nashville in MetroCenter. The mailing address is 229B Cumberland Bend, Nashville, TN 37228.

In 1989 the General Assembly authorized the Council to employ staff necessary to fulfill its reporting, statistical, and other duties. Robyn E. Smith served as Staff Director for the Tennessee Judicial Council this fiscal year. After working with TJIS and the Council for almost six years, Ms. Smith resigned at the end of the fiscal year in order to attend law school at the University of Tennessee at Knoxville.

This Annual Report of the Tennessee Judicial Council is presented pursuant to the Council's statutory duty as set forth in Tennessee Code Annotated, Section 16-21-107(b). However, the Annual Report would not be possible without the continuing support and cooperation of the Tennessee judges and, especially, the clerks of court and their staffs.

Respectfully submitted,

Cletus W. McWilliams

Organization and Selection

The judicial power of Tennessee is vested in the Supreme Court and in circuit and chancery courts and any other lower courts which the legislature establishes. The Supreme Court is composed of five elected justices. The state constitution stipulates that not more than two of them may reside in any one of the three grand divisions of the state. The justices are elected to eight year terms. The constitution requires the justices to be at least thirty-five years old and a state resident for five years. The justices must also be authorized to practice law in Tennessee.

The justices designate one of their own to serve as Chief Justice. The Court, completing its eight-year term this fiscal year, rotated the office of Chief Justice among the justices, with each serving in the position for approximately nineteen months of the eight year term. Justice Frank F. Drowota, III, served as Chief Justice during the 1989-90 fiscal year.

The Supreme Court holds court at Knoxville, Nashville, and Jackson. In addition to these locations, court may be held in other places which the Chief Justice designates. The Supreme Court is required by statute to hold court at Knoxville on the second Monday in September, at Nashville on the first Monday in December, and at Jackson on the first Monday in April.

Several changes occurred on the Court during 1989-90. Justice William J. Harbison retired from the Supreme Court in March 1990. The Governor appointed Court of Criminal Appeals Judge Martha C. Daughtrey to fill the vacancy. The first woman to serve on the Tennessee Supreme Court, Justice Daughtrey was sworn in during April 1990. At the end of June 1990, members of the Supreme Court were: Chief Justice Frank F. Drowota, III and Associate Justices William H. D. Fones, Robert E. Cooper, Charles H. O'Brien, and Martha C. Daughtrey.

Administration of Justice

The Supreme Court is vested with constitutional, statutory, and inherent power to supervise the courts and the administration of justice in the state. In order to ensure the orderly administration of justice, the Supreme Court is empowered to take affirmative and appropriate action to correct or alleviate any imbalance in caseloads among the state's various judicial circuits and chancery divisions. Likewise the Supreme Court has the power to correct and alleviate any condition or situation adversely affecting the administration of justice within the state.

Thus, the Supreme Court is empowered to prescribe general rules of practice and procedure in all Tennessee courts. The Court has the power to designate and assign temporarily any judge or chancellor to sit as a member of any court. It also maintains a roster of retired judges who are willing to undertake special duties and assigns them appropriate judicial duties. The Court may require its executive secretary to survey the dockets of circuit, criminal, chancery, and other similar courts of record and report periodically to the Court and annually to the General Assembly.

The Chief Justice exercises a number of constitutional and statutory powers. He presides at the impeachment trial of any public official who may be impeached under the state constitution. He designates as needed, special judges or chancellors, and retired judges or attorneys general to serve circuit, chancery, criminal, or appellate courts. He may certify the disability of a judge to the governor. He serves as chairman of the commissions controlling the Supreme Court Buildings in Nashville, Knoxville, and Jackson; as chairman of the Law Library Commission; and as chairman of the Tennessee Code Commission. He approves salaries for secretarial assistants of trial judges and chancellors, and in concurrence with the Executive Secretary, sets the compensation paid to the clerks and stenographers of the Supreme Court justices.

Responsibility for the day-to-day administration of the Supreme Court is entrusted to the Clerks of the Supreme Court. The Supreme Court appoints one clerk in each of the three grand divisions for a six-year term. The clerks must maintain current dockets, records, and files as prescribed by law or order of the Court. At the end of June 1990, Robert A. Summar in Knoxville; A. B. Neil, Jr., in Nashville; and Jewel Redden in Jackson served as Clerks of the Supreme Court.

Jurisdiction

The Tennessee Constitution vests the Supreme Court with appellate jurisdiction. Some of the matters that may be appealed directly to the Supreme Court include the constitutionality of a state law or municipal ordinance which is the sole determinant of the litigation, the right to hold public office, worker's compensation, state revenue, disciplinary actions involving attorneys, teacher tenure, and death penalty convictions.

Direct appeals to the Supreme Court in civil cases extend only to the types of cases listed above. However, an appeal by permission may be taken from a final decision of the Court of Appeals or Court of Criminal Appeals to the Supreme Court on application and in the discretion of the Supreme Court.

INTERMEDIATE APPELLATE COURTS

COURT OF APPEALS

Organization

The Court of Appeals consists of twelve judges of whom not more than four may reside in any one grand division of the state. The Court is empowered to sit in sections of three judges each in Knoxville, Nashville, and Jackson, and to hear and decide cases as if all twelve members were present. When sitting in sections of three, the concurrence of two judges is sufficient for a decision. When two sections sit together, the concurrence of five judges is necessary for a decision. When the entire membership of the Court participates, a decision requires the concurrence of seven judges.

The court sits in sections concurrently as ordered by the presiding judge in Knoxville, Nashville, and Jackson, for the purpose of hearing and determining cases before it and for such length of time as may, in the judgment of the court, be required for the dispatch of business before the court.

Administration

The Court of Appeals is subject to the general rules of practice and procedure prescribed by the Tennessee Supreme Court. The Court of Appeals may also adopt supplementary or additional rules of practice and procedure not in conflict with those promulgated for it by the Supreme Court.

Judges of the Court of Appeals choose the presiding judge of the Court at the first meeting of the Court after regular judicial election. When the Court sits in sections, each section selects a presiding judge from its members.

The Clerks of the Supreme Court also serve as the Clerks of the Court of Appeals. They perform the same duties, are subject to the same liabilities, and receive the same compensation as prescribed by law.

Selection

The judges of the Court of Appeals are elected pursuant to Tennessee's version of the "Missouri Plan." Under this plan, when a vacancy occurs on the Court of Appeals, the Appellate Court Nominating Commission selects three persons from the grand division in which the vacancy exists. The Governor then appoints one of the three nominees to fill the vacancy. The appointee serves as a judge of the Court of Appeals until the next regular August biennial election. The appointed judge runs unopposed. If the majority of those voting reject the appointed judge, then a vacancy exists, as of September 1, that is filled by nomination and appointment as described above. Court of Appeals judges must be at least thirty years old and must be residents of Tennessee for five years prior to their appointment. Judges of the Court of Appeals must also be admitted to the practice of law in Tennessee.

At the end of June 1990, the following members served on the Court of Appeals: Middle Division—Henry F. Todd, Samuel L. Lewis, Ben H. Cantrell, and William C. Koch, Jr.; Eastern Division—Clifford E. Sanders, Houston Goddard, Herschel P. Franks, and E. Riley Anderson; Western Division—Hewitt P. Tomlin, Jr., W. Frank Crawford, Alan E. Highers, and David R. Farmer. Judge Todd served as presiding judge for the Court.

Jurisdiction

The jurisdiction of the Court of Appeals is appellate only; it has no original jurisdiction. Effective July 1, 1989, the appellate jurisdiction of the Court of Appeals extends to all civil cases except those that involve the constitutionality of a statute or city ordinance which is the determinative question in the litigation, the right to hold public office, worker's compensation, and state revenue.

In 1977, the General Assembly expanded the appellate jurisdiction of the Court of Appeals to include review of chancery court judgments pertaining to orders of state administrative agencies. In addition, the Court also has jurisdiction over appeals from juvenile and circuit courts in paternity cases. The Court also has jurisdiction over appeals from circuit and chancery courts involving actions of boards and commissions functioning under the laws of Tennessee unless otherwise specifically provided.

Procedure

Under the Tennessee Rules of Appellate Procedure, there are two principal devices that may be used to obtain review in the Court of Appeals. An appeal as of right may be obtained in the Court of Appeals in all civil actions where final judgment is entered in a trial court from which an appeal lies in the Court of Appeals. Appeal by permission may be granted either for an interlocutory appeal by permission from the trial court, or for an extraordinary appeal by permission on original application in the appellate court.

COURT OF CRIMINAL APPEALS

Organization

Nine judges serve on the Court of Criminal Appeals. No more than three judges can reside in any one of the state's three grand divisions. The entire membership of the Court may participate, or members may sit in panels of three, five, or seven judges. A decision requires the concurrence of a majority of judges sitting.

By statute the Court is required to sit at Knoxville, Nashville, and Jackson to hear and decide cases and other matters which come before it. The Court is specifically required to sit at Knoxville on the fourth Monday in June, at Nashville on the third Monday in February, and at Jackson on the second Monday in October.

Administration

The Court is subject to the general rules of practice and procedure prescribed by the Tennessee Supreme Court. In addition, the Court of Criminal Appeals has the authority to adopt and promulgate its own rules of practice.

Judges of the Court of Criminal Appeals select the presiding judge of the Court at the first meeting of the Court following the regular judicial election. The presiding judge may call special meetings of the Court at the request of a majority of its members. He may also assign judges to panels and designate the time and place for the sitting.

The Clerks of the Supreme Court also serve as the Clerks of the Court of Criminal Appeals. They perform the same duties, are subject to the same liabilities, and receive the same compensation as prescribed by law.

Selection

The judges of the Court of Criminal Appeals are elected in accordance with Tennessee's version of the "Missouri Plan." Under the plan, when a vacancy occurs on the Court of Criminal Appeals, the Appellate Court Nominating Commission selects three persons from the grand division in which the vacancy exists. The Governor then appoints one of the three nominees to fill the vacancy. The appointee serves as judge of the Court of Criminal Appeals until the next regular August biennial election. The appointed judge runs unopposed. If the majority of those voting reject the appointed judge, then a vacancy exists, as of September 1, which has to be filled by nomination and appointment as described above. Court of Criminal Appeals judges must be at least thirty years old. They must be Tennessee residents for five years prior to their appointment. The judges must also be admitted to practice law in Tennessee.

Effective April 1990, Judge Martha C. Daughtrey resigned from the Court of Criminal Appeals in order to accept an appointment to the Tennessee Supreme Court. The Governor appointed Circuit Judge John H. Peay to fill the vacancy. Judge Peay was sworn in during June 1990.

At the end of June 1990, the following members served on the Court of Criminal Appeals: Western Division—Robert K. Dwyer, Joseph B. Jones, and Lyle Reid; Middle Division—Jerry Scott, A. A. Birch, Jr., and John H. Peay; Eastern Division—Joe B. Duncan, John K. Byers, and Gary Wade. Judge Duncan served as presiding judge.

Jurisdiction

The jurisdiction of the Court of Criminal Appeals is appellate only; it has no original jurisdiction. Its jurisdiction extends to the review of final judgments of trial courts in criminal cases, both felony and misdemeanor. Jurisdiction also extends over contempt matters arising from criminal cases, to extradition cases, and to habeas corpus and post-conviction proceedings attacking the validity of a final judgment of conviction or the sentence in a criminal case.

Procedure

The Tennessee Rules of Appellate Procedure allow two principal devices to be used to obtain review in the Court of Criminal Appeals. One is an appeal as of right by the defendant from a judgment of conviction entered by the trial court or an appeal as of right by the state in criminal actions, and the second is an appeal by permission. Appeal by permission may be granted either for an interlocutory appeal by permission from the trial court, or for an extraordinary appeal by permission on original application in the appellate court.

State Trial Courts

STATE TRIAL COURTS

STATE TRIAL COURTS

Organization

Tennessee is divided into thirty-one judicial districts. In 1984 the General Assembly passed a redistricting bill. The bill had as its express purpose the reorganization of the existing trial court system so that the growth of the courts would occur in a logical and orderly manner.

Within each judicial district there are both circuit and chancery courts. Many of the judicial districts also have criminal courts. Any judge or chancellor may exercise by interchange, appointment, or designation the jurisdiction of any trial court other than the one to which he/she was elected or appointed in order to facilitate the handling of cases.

Each judicial district has a presiding judge. It is the duty of the presiding judge to assign cases in a way that reduces delays, equitably distributes the workload, and promotes the orderly and efficient administration of justice.

The judges of each district have the responsibility to promulgate uniform rules of practice for that district. Court is held within each judicial district at the times and on the dates that the judges of the district fix by rule. Court is held within each county of the district as often as necessary to dispose of the court's business.

Administration

The Supreme Court has certain supervisory powers regarding the circuit, criminal, and chancery courts. Those powers include, but are not limited to, designating and temporarily assigning any judge or chancellor to sit as a member of any court as well as maintaining a roster of retired judges who are willing to undertake special duties and assigning them appropriate judicial duties. The Court may also take affirmative action to correct any caseload imbalance or to alleviate any condition adversely affecting the administration of justice. The Court may also adopt, upon the recommendation of its Executive Secretary, an annual plan which provides for the orientation of new trial or appellate judges and for the continuing legal education and training of those judges.

Jurisdiction

The state constitution grants the legislature the power to establish circuit courts. The legislature may also abolish a particular circuit court and has the power to increase or diminish the jurisdiction of the circuit courts.

The circuit court has general jurisdiction in all cases where jurisdiction is not conferred on another court. The circuit court may serve as a court of equity if there is no objection, or may transfer equity cases to chancery court.

The circuit court has exclusive original jurisdiction over several types of suits. Included among those are cases contesting the validity of a will, suits to correct mistakes in deeds conveying land, applications to restore citizenship, and eminent domain cases. The circuit court has appellate jurisdiction of all suits instituted in a lower court.

The jurisdiction of chancery courts is determined by statute and the legislature may increase, decrease, or alter that jurisdiction. Among the types of cases over which chancery courts exercise jurisdiction are those resulting from accidents and fraud, and for the specific performance of contracts. Chancery courts also hear suits between partners, those against minors which concern their estates, and those brought for the enforcement of wills and trusts. Some of the other types of actions over which the chancery courts have exclusive jurisdiction are those that decide disputes between the state and corporations and that decide boundary line disputes. Chancery courts probate wills and administer estates and also administer the distribution of estates where there are problems or conflicting claims.

The criminal courts have jurisdiction over crimes, misdemeanors, special crime-related matters, and over a variety of non-criminal matters. The criminal courts which have been created are vested with jurisdiction over all criminal matters arising in their counties, which include appellate jurisdiction over actions tried in a lower court.

Another type of appellate jurisdiction vested in the criminal courts is the post-conviction procedure. A defendant who has been convicted and is serving a prison term may, after the exhaustion of appellate remedies or passage of time for appeal, petition for post-conviction relief in the court where the conviction occurred. The original trial judge would not hear the petition unless the issue of competent counsel were raised. A judge of the criminal court, a circuit judge or a chancellor could be designated to hear the petition.

The circuit and chancery courts have concurrent jurisdiction over certain types of action. Some examples include suits seeking to obtain divorce or authorize adoptions; seeking to stop nuisances and recover damages caused by the nuisance; enjoining the unlawful practice of podiatry and chiropractic; changing or altering the name of a person; and recovering personal property.

The circuit and criminal courts also have concurrent original jurisdiction in certain matters. And the circuit, chancery, and criminal courts all have concurrent original jurisdiction over cases such as those to stop public nuisances, to remove public officers for cause, worker's compensation cases and those seeking approval of a worker's compensation settlement, and disciplinary proceedings against attorneys.

All judges and chancellors have the authority to perform a marriage ceremony.

Procedure

In 1970 the Supreme Court adopted the Rules of Civil Procedure which govern procedure in all civil actions in chancery court, and in all other courts while exercising the jurisdiction of circuit and chancery court. In 1978 the Rules of Criminal Procedure took effect. These rules govern all criminal proceedings in all courts of record in the state.

Selection of Judges and Chancellors

The Tennessee Constitution states that the judges of the circuit and chancery courts should be elected for a term of eight years by the voters of the district to which they are assigned.

A judge must be at least thirty years old, a state resident for five years, and a resident of the district for one year. A judge must also be authorized to practice law in Tennessee courts.

Clerks of Court

Circuit Court Clerk

The circuit court clerk is the principal administrative aide to the circuit court. The clerk assists in courtroom administration and records management, docket maintenance, revenue management, maintenance of court minutes, and official communication.

Each county has a circuit court clerk who is elected for a four-year term. There are 95 counties and, therefore, 95 circuit court clerks in Tennessee.

Effective this fiscal year, the clerks are required to report to the Tennessee Judicial Council the number of personal injury and wrongful death actions filed and tried and the amounts awarded.

Clerk and Master

The clerk and master is the principal administrative aide to the chancery court. The clerk and master also assists in courtroom administration and records management, docket maintenance, revenue management, maintenance of court minutes, and official communication.

The clerk and master is appointed by the chancellor for a six-year term. There are 98 clerks and master in Tennessee.

Effective this fiscal year, the clerks and master are also required to report to the Tennessee Judicial Council the number of personal injury and wrongful death actions filed and tried and the amounts awarded.

Clerk of Criminal Court

The duties of the clerk of the criminal court are performed by the circuit court clerks in the majority of the criminal courts. There is a separate office of clerk of the criminal court in the criminal courts of the sixth, eleventh, twentieth, and thirtieth judicial districts.

54 Mental Health/Judicial Hospitalization/Adult Protective Services. Includes actions that determine the competency of an individual, judicial commitment or hospitalization, judicial review of transfers of the mentally ill or retarded, restoration of competency, and adult protective services, filed by the Department of Human Services.

57 Conservatorship/Guardianship/Trust. Includes all cases involving conservatorships, annual guardianship actions, and trusts.

58 Miscellaneous General Civil. Includes actions that are not included in any of the other categories. Common examples are: property damage suits; employment discrimination suits; unliquidated damages; salary suit initiated by a county official; non-domestic relations contempt; tax matters; special remedy; injunctions; habeas corpus; writs of mandamus; quo warranto; name change; foreign judgments.

59 Juvenile Court Appeals. All appeals from juvenile court.

60 Court Approval of a Settlement. Includes minor's settlements and all other cases which require court approval for settlement.

CRIMINAL FILINGS

For reporting purposes, criminal cases are divided into three general classes and 25 categories.

Offenses Committed Against Persons

assault, reckless conduct, and terroristic threat.

02 Homicide. Includes capital murder, murder, manslaughter, and criminal negligent homicide.

03 Kidnapping. Includes false imprisonment and kidnapping.

04 Non-Support. Includes all cases where a non-custodial parent intentionally or knowingly abandons his child or fails within his means to provide for the support and education of his child as directed by the court.

05 Sexual Offense. Includes rape, aggravated rape, sexual abuse, rape of a child, sexual abuse of a child, and indecency with a child.

06 Other Acts Against Person. Includes criminal cases that do not logically fit any of the above categories. A common example is contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Offenses Committed Against Property

11 Burglary. Includes burglary, criminal trespassing, and breaking and entering.

12 Fraud. Includes worthless checks, forgery, credit card abuse, false statements to obtain credit or welfare, deceptive business practices, and fraud in insolvency.

13 Property Destruction. Includes arson, criminal mischief, and reckless damage or destruction.

14 Robbery. Includes robbery and aggravated robbery.

15 Theft. Includes petit and grand larceny, shoplifting, extortion, and theft.

16 Other Acts Against Property. Includes criminal cases that do not logically fit any of the above categories.

17 Concealing and/or Receiving Stolen Property. Includes possession of items without serial numbers, transporting stolen goods across state lines, and concealing and/or receiving stolen property.

Offenses Committed Against the Public Welfare

21 Bribery. Includes bribery, coercion of voters, tampering with a witness, accepting a gift from a public servant, and improper influence.

22 Disorderly Conduct. Includes disturbing the peace, disorderly conduct, riot, false alarm, harassment, public intoxication, obstructing a highway, and cruelty to animals.

23 Drugs. Includes possession or sale of dangerous, abusable, or restricted drugs, and possession of dangerous drugs paraphernalia.

24 DWI. Includes those cases that involve the operation of a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol or drugs.

25 Gambling. Includes gambling, gambling promotion, lotteries, chain letters, pyramid clubs, and possession of gaming devices and tables.

26 Obscenity. Includes obscenity, public lewdness, and harmful display to a minor.

27 Obstructing Justice. Includes resisting arrest, evading arrest, escape, bail jumping, aiding escape, and accessory after the fact.

28 Perjury. Includes perjury, impersonation of a public servant, and tampering with public records.

29 Prostitution. Includes prostitution, promotion of prostitution, and compelling prostitution.

30 Weapons Possession/Resale. Includes unlawful possession of a weapon, unlawful sale of firearms, unlawful transportation of firearms, and the use of a weapon in the commission of a crime.

31 Other Acts Against Public. Includes criminal case filings that do not logically fit any of the above categories. Common examples are vagrancy, liquor offenses, and driving with a revoked license.

32 Special Remedy. Includes all civil actions that can occur in reference to a criminal case, for example, post-conviction petitions, petitions of habeas corpus, etc.

CRIMINAL DISPOSITIONS

For purposes of caseload reporting, the following are possible judgments in a criminal case.

Acquittal. The defendant is found "not guilty" after trial.

Convicted After Trial. The defendant is found guilty after a trial by jury or judge.

Dismissal. Includes both voluntary and involuntary dismissals.

Guilty Plea. The defendant has pled guilty, including a plea of nolo contendere.

Remanded to General Sessions. The defendant, after having been brought before the criminal court, is later returned to the general sessions court for action.

Special Remedy Relief. Approval of criminal filing category special remedy relief.

Transferred to Another Court. The criminal case is transferred to another county, state, or court.

Unapprehended Defendant. This category can be used if the defendant failed to appear when required, left the state without permission, or was unavailable for trial. A case using this category is placed in a closed status until apprehension allows reopening of the case. Where courts have given formal approval to use this disposition, reporting is generally not done until after 90 days from the date of filing.

Nolle Prosequi. Used when the district attorney general terminates a case.

Other. Includes criminal cases that do not logically fit any of the given categories. Common examples are cases retired, abated by death, and mistrial.

COURTS OF LIMITED JURISDICTION

General Sessions Court

Although a general sessions court had been created in many counties by private legislation, during 1960 a general statute established this court as an alternative to the justice of the peace system in all but six counties. Many variations exist in general sessions court jurisdiction.

Under the general statute, each has the civil and criminal jurisdiction formerly vested in the justice of the peace. Today this civil jurisdiction extends to $10,000 in all civil cases and $15,000 in counties with a population of over 700,000. The court has unlimited jurisdiction in actions to recover personal property and jurisdiction to award an alternative money judgment not to exceed $25,000.

Effective in March 1989, appeals from general sessions courts in replevin cases and forcible entry and detainer cases have to be made within ten days. Effective in May 1989, general sessions judges were granted the same power as courts of record to use contempt power to punish violations of protection orders. However, a non-attorney judge must appoint a lawyer-referee to hear criminal contempt charges.

General sessions judges have the power to issue execution on judgments entered by them. They may also issue restraining orders and enforce the penalty for the violation of these orders. General sessions judges have the same jurisdiction as circuit court judges or chancellors to grant fiats, writs, injunctions and other extraordinary process. Some of the general sessions courts have the power to issue attachments and impose punishments for contempt of court. Such punishments for contempt are limited to a fine not exceeding $50 and imprisonment not exceeding ten days.

The general sessions court can hold preliminary hearings on criminal charges. The judge may try the case if the charge is a misdemeanor within the jurisdiction of the sessions court if the defendant has waived his right to indictment, presentment, grand jury investigation and jury trial, or if a plea of guilty to the misdemeanor charge has been entered. Otherwise, the case is transferred to the court in that county with criminal jurisdiction.

The general sessions judge has the authority to issue all warrants and to set a bond schedule for the release of bailable prisoners. When trying a criminal case, the judge may impose a fine up to $50 and/or a jail sentence up to 11 months, 29 days unless the crime involved specifies a longer term to be served in the county jail or workhouse. As in civil cases, disputed judgments may be appealed to a higher trial court with proper jurisdiction.

General sessions jurisdiction can vary among individual counties. Some courts have jurisdiction over municipal ordinance violations, and some counties have given their general sessions court jurisdiction in probate, juvenile, mental commitment, worker's compensation, and domestic relations matters.

Ninety-three of the ninety-five counties have a general sessions court. Anderson and Sevier counties have a trial court which is similar to general sessions but with expanded jurisdiction. In most counties, the circuit court clerk acts as clerk of the general sessions court although a separate sessions clerk exists in some locations.

Juvenile Court

Juvenile courts are general sessions courts in all the counties of this state except in those counties and municipalities in which special juvenile courts are provided by law. Among the proceedings in which these courts have exclusive original jurisdiction are proceedings in which a child is alleged to be delinquent, unruly, or dependent and neglected. The juvenile court also has concurrent jurisdiction with the circuit, chancery, and probate court in some areas.

In 1984 the Supreme Court promulgated the Tennessee Rules of Juvenile Procedure. These rules were to provide speedy and inexpensive procedures for the hearing of juvenile cases that assure fairness and equity and that protect the rights and interests of all parties. The rules were designed to promote uniformity in practice and procedure and to provide guidance to judges, referees, attorneys, youth services and probation officers, and others participating in the juvenile courts.

Municipal Court

A city or municipal (sometimes recorder's) court has jurisdiction over cases involving the violation of city ordinances. Generally, a city judge has the authority to assess fines up to $50 and sentences of imprisonment up to 30 days. However, this jurisdiction varies widely from city to city. The number of such courts is estimated at over 300 throughout the state.
